- Social Science data from the nation's leading think tank
- Nearly 200 databases covering all 50 states
- 162 additional detailed databases on CA, TX, NY
- Data at national, state, local levels
- More than 700 institutional subscribers since 1998.

Click the Summary of Databases link on the upper right hand corner of the screen.

You will see this display:

The screenshot shows the RAND State Statistics website. At the top right, there are links for Home, About RAND State Statistics, and Contact Us. Below these is a 'Browse:' dropdown menu currently set to 'CA' with 'US' as an option. A purple navigation bar contains the following categories: Population & Demographics, Health & Health Care, Business & Economics, Crimes, Prisons & Courts, Labor Force, Employment & Earnings, Energy, Environment, Resources & Weather, K-12 Education, Higher Education (highlighted with a red arrow), Income, Expenditure, Wealth & Poverty, Social Insurance & Human Services, Transportation & Travel, Federal Government, and State & Local Government. Below the navigation bar is the 'RAND California Database Descriptions' section. It contains a heading and a paragraph: 'For each of the following statistics categories, click on the radio button for an overview of the databases available, the periodicity, data sources, time periods, and geographic regions covered.' Below this is a grid of radio buttons for various categories. The 'Higher Education' radio button is selected, and a red arrow points to it from the left.
